

Council Members Carlos Menchaca, Mark Treyger and Project Reach

to host

Brooklyn-wide Anti-Discrimination Clinics

Tuesday, June 7, 2016
9am-4pm

Red Hook Library
7 Walcott Street
Brooklyn NY 11231

This 6-hour *Anti-Discrimination Clinic will bring together 30-40 educators, service providers and professionals from schools and community organizations servicing young people and families throughout Brooklyn.

A parallel Anti-Discrimination Clinic for young people will also take place at the Red Hook Library on Tuesday, June 21th at the Red Hook Library, 7 Wolcott Street, Brooklyn, NY 11231.

Council Members Menchaca, Treyger and Project Reach seek to establish community and school-based Intergenerational Anti-Discrimination Teams of young people and adults in Brooklyn, trained to address bullying, bias and discrimination.

Drawing from 35 years of anti-discrimination and social justice training, Project Reach will offer a unique opportunity to individuals, organizations and schools to experience its most successful and impactful workshops.

All people who are committed to ending discrimination and fighting for social justice are encouraged to attend.

To register/apply go to: <http://bit.ly/BkClinic2016> or www.projectreachnyc.org

For more information, please email
donkao@projectreachnyc.org or katherine@projectreachnyc.org

or

Call Don - (917) 749-6116 or Katherine – (315) 664-8059